

IRWIN SOUGHT FOR KIDNAP-ATTACK CASE, SIGHTED AT WARRINGTON TODAY; FORCES HIS UNCLE AT PISTOL POINT TO DRIVE HIM TO PHILADELPHIA FOR CLOTHING

Young Woman With Him, According to Cpl. Harold Dando, of Doylestown State Police — Irwin, Wanted on Other Kidnapping and Murder Charges, Flees with Girl in Uncle's Sedan.

By International News Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30 — Police reported today that a man sought for the kidnapping-rape of a minor 17-year-old Riverdale, Md., girl, has been sighted at Warrington, Bucks County, Pa., with the girl.

The suspect, identified as Warren Lee Irwin, also is wanted by the FBI for murder and kidnapping in the mid-west.

A police broadcast at 10:30 this morning, said that Irwin had been seen at Warrington this morning, and that he had with him the girl, Carolyn Barker.

Cpl. Harold Dando, of Doylestown barracks, said the fugitive spent several hours at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. George Brewer, Warrington. Dando said he learned Irwin had a young girl with him. Dando said Irwin forced Brewer at pistol point to drive to the bus station in Philadelphia to get some clothing from a locker. When both returned to Warrington the fugitive fled with the girl in Brewer's 1950 car.

Lawrence Gilbert, 19, Miss Barker's fiancé, told police she was attacked and abducted Thursday night on the eve of her birthday anniversary.

Irwin, 27, is wanted in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for kidnapping, and in Detroit, Mich., as a fugitive on a murder charge.

THE WAR

By Howard Handleman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)
TOKYO, June 30 — (INS) — All Allied radio stations in the Far East kept tuned to Pyongyang and Peiping today tensely awaiting a Communist reply to General Ridgway's call for a Korean armistice.

No hint of Red reaction was heard up to 4 p. m. (2 a. m. EDT), eight hours after the UN supreme commander's cease-fire proposal was first broadcast to the Red capitals of North Korea and China.

But even before Ridgway's peace appeal was radioed to the Communist high command at 8 a. m., staff sections at his Tokyo headquarters were writing plans for action to implement an armistice.

Ridgway's headquarters plane "Scap" was reported ready at Tokyo's Haneeda airfield to take the UN supreme commander anywhere he might wish to go at a moment's notice.

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, a possible negotiator in cease-fire talks, told war correspondents at his Eighth Army headquarters in Korea he had "no comment" to make.

Facilities were readied for a mission to Wonsan if the Communists agree to talk peace at the North Korean port aboard a Danish hospital ship—as suggested by Ridgway.

Peace fever spread everywhere in the United Nations camp but it was a cautiously controlled exuberance and even Ridgway himself conducted "business as usual" at his Tokyo headquarters.

Young Folks Provide Major Part of Program

WOODSIDE, June 30 — Approximately 65 persons attended a meeting of Middletown Grange, Wednesday evening, here. Almost half of the attendants were members of the juvenile Grange and other young people in the community, and they furnished the major portion of the program at the young people's party, which was under the direction of Mrs. William Roeschen. No business session was held.

Highlights of the entertainment were readings, recitations and vocal music. The guest soloist was Madeleine Eposito, of the Holland section, who was accompanied by Anne Doherty. A quartet composed of Laverne Benner, Donald Greb, William Shull, Jr., and James Longstreet, presented several selections.

A group of the young people sang the juvenile Grange camp song, the words of which were written by Mrs. Norman Tomlinson and Mrs. William Shull.

The young people and adults brought a collection of food and money for the juvenile Grange camp at Wernersville in August.

The next meeting will be held at the community house, here, on July 11, when Edgewood Grange will furnish the program and present what is known among Grangers as the floral tribute.

AN EAGLE'S NEST

It can hardly be said that the proposal to establish an Air Force Academy of equal aims and academic stature to West Point and Annapolis has been popular in Congress. To date 37 bills have been introduced in the Senate and House urging it. The hooker in each one was that the site must be in the home state of the sponsoring Congressman. It is easy to see why these bills have not gained much altitude.

But the one introduced the other day in the House by Armed Services Committee Chairman
Carl Vinson looks like the real thing. There is nothing regional about it. It purports to recognize a need, and offers the means to correct it. It leaves the choice of a site up to the Air Force. Thus it appears that Texas will be the winning state because of its undeniable climatic advantages.

There is overwhelming support in the Defense Department for a separate school for airmen. The Joint Chiefs of Staff gave it their blessing in 1949 when the Air Force was officially split off from its parent, the Army. The Army and Navy would be delighted to see it come about. Currently the Air Force is milking away 25 per cent of the graduating class from each service annually. The ground and sea forces have plenty of use for these trained young careerists
in their own establishments.

The Air Force is growing like a weed. It needs the solid base of a trained officer corps to build for the future. Certainly regional or political considerations should not be the determining factors in making a decision for or against an Air Academy.

WHERE'S CHARLIE?

That a David is fighting the Goliath U. S. Air Force in Korea was revealed in a terse announcement at a Pentagon briefing the other day. The briefing officer announced, deadpan, that regular night heckler flights were being flown against rear areas of U. S.
forces by an open cockpit biplane,
apparently of World War I vintage, which dropped small bombs and
"fired green tracers at a very slow rate."

Since then correspondents have filled in a bit more. American forces have dubbed this one-man,
Model T aircraft "Bedcheck Charlie" since he arrives when the weary are trying to sleep. He hucks in and out, evading radar screens (he flies behind hills) and laborate anti-aircraft defenses.
Night fighters get no more than a glimpse of him because he's slow and they're too fast. His chief value is harassment and embarrassment, and he's doing well on both counts.

Charlie will get it sooner or later. Somebody may get in a lucky burst on him or he may run into one of his own hills.
Meanwhile he keeps the Air Force running, but, as one correspondent put it, "the grins are getting rather strained."

U. S. fliers have shown that they can take care of anything that goes by the book. But Charlie, like young David, never heard of the local ground rules—or the book either.

Miss Elizabeth Payne Is Wed To Alphonse Wissman

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, June 30

This morning at 10 o'clock mass, St. Charles R. C. church was the scene of a wedding, when Miss Elizabeth Payne, daughter of Mr. Raymond Payne, Andalusia, became the bride of Mr. Alphonse J. Wissman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse L. Wissman, of Maryland. The marriage was performed by the Rev. John L. Nugent.

This was a Blessed Mother wedding. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of lace with a Peter Pan collar. She wore a chapel length veil with orange blossoms and seeded pearl side gatherings, and carried white carnations.

Second Lieutenant Mary T. Wissman, who is stationed in Texas, was the maid of honor. Miss Catherine Esten, Philadelphia and Miss Helen Vancho, Philadelphia were the bridesmaids. All attendants were dressed in French blue gowns, carried blue and white carnations and wore floral head pieces.

Mr. Victor Levand, Jr., of Massachusetts was the best man. Ushers were Mr. Vincino Ryan, New Jersey and Mr. Richard Mott, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Payne, the bride's godmother chose a blue lace gown, featuring a lace jacket. She wore orchids. The bridegroom's mother was attired in pink chiffon and wore orchids.

A reception will be held in St. Charles parish hall at four p. m. The newlyweds plan to reside in Maryland, where Mr. Wissman is employed by Westinghouse.

The brides attendants each received a musical perfume box. The ushers received pen and pencil sets.

The bridegroom and his family are former residents of Andalusia. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Villanova College.

Let me not, O Lord, be puffed up with worldly wisdom, which passes away, but grant me that love which never abates, that I may not choose to know anything among men but Jesus, and Him crucified. I beg Thee, dear Jesus, that he upon whom Thou hast graciously bestowed the sweet savor of the words of Thy knowledge, may also possess Thee, Fount of all Wisdom, and shine forever before Thy countenance, Amen. SGT. JIM MAJOR BLANKS 5TH WARD BY SCORE OF 1 TO 0

Sgt. Jim Major whitewashed the Fifth Ward Sporting Club last evening in a pitcher's battle on Memorial softball field. The victory gave the Auto Boys team a firmer grip on first place in the loop, it being their eighth consecutive win. Final score was: Auto Boys, 1; Fifth Ward, 0.

Sgt. Major was tangled up in a duel with Stanley "Butch" Koreya, one of the leading hurlers of the Trenton League. Major gave up three hits while Koreya was touched for five.

A single by "Toby" Oriola and a two-bagger from the bat of "Bill" Wallick in the initial frame gave the Mill streeters the only run of the game.

Fifth Ward's best opportunity to score came in the sixth. Major walked S. Cordisco and then put him around to third on two wild pitches. Mancini hit a slow roller to Tony Cauti but Cordisco was caught on a run-down at the plate. B. Cordisco also walked but Henry Liberatore and Joe Pica failed to deliver.

Frank Barbetta caught a nice game for the winning team, making several nice throws to retire runners.

County Schools To Have Reading Consultant on Staff

assist teachers and parents in improving the reading abilities of their children.

On Fridays, by appointment, he will conduct a reading clinic at the County Education Building in Doylestown.

Mr. Botel's program also includes the teaching of both basic courses and refresher courses in reading. Later on he will conduct an advanced course in reading. New equipment for the reading clinic has been purchased by the County Board. A great deal of remedial reading material and special books on reading will also be secured before September.

Four days a week Mr. Botel will be visiting teachers in nearly all of the school systems of the county.

When it became apparent that enough school boards had ratified the program, a committee of administrators and supervisors canvassed the field of reading specialists and eventually unanimously recommended the selection of Mr. Botel.

Mr. Botel will be the first full time reading supervisor serving on a county Superintendent's staff in Pennsylvania, and one of the first holding that position in the country.

Mr. Botel is a graduate of Bartam High School, Philadelphia. He formerly taught at Mt. Pleasant, Delaware. He holds a bachelors and masters degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He served in the U. S. Navy during the past war in the Pacific. At the University of Pennsylvania his research has been in the study habits of superior and low achievement students in college.

Mr. Botel also attended Harvard. He has been an instructor at the University of Pennsylvania Reading Clinic for the past two years.

perience, women are especially good at caring for others in time of need.

ENGINEERING AND RESCUE SERVICE: This service would restore damaged facilities and clear debris after an attack to get a stricken city back into working order as soon as possible. Workers include persons with experience in building trades, utilities and construction. Men are needed to operate cranes, bulldozers, dump trucks and welding machines. Rescue teams of eight men each will remove trapped persons. There will be a need for volunteers in the labor force to clean away wreckage.

TRANSPORTATION SERVICE: A lot of people and equipment will be moving from place to place in a hurry. Persons with skills in rail, air, highway and water transport will be needed.

COMMUNICATIONS SERVICE: This is the nerve center of civil defense. Control centers must keep in touch with one another. Air raid warnings must be relayed promptly. There is need for a reliable way of directing the various services. If you have any technical training in radio, television, telegraph or telephone work you are needed.

MEDICAL SERVICE: This service needs all persons experienced in the fields of health or medicine. It also needs volunteers who can be trained in special weapons defense — which means defense against atomic, biological and chemical warfare. Finally, it needs untrained volunteers for manual and clerical work. Thousands of volunteers will be needed for the big job of protecting the health of a city after an attack, and caring for the injured. Thousands of first aid workers will be needed. Your Red Cross chapters give first aid classes as well as courses in home nursing.

There are many jobs that can't be described in this limited space. Contact your local civil defense organization.

"Blue Cross" Opens Branch Office Here

Cross and Blue Shield subscribers here that it is vitally necessary that a branch office be opened in our city so that the business of servicing these new subscribers might be conducted with efficiency and speed.

Mr. Trumpoldt has nearly a decade of health insurance as his background. He has personally represented Blue Cross and Blue Shield with a number of the largest industrial accounts in the country.

"The Bristol office was opened and Mr. Trumpoldt placed in charge because the Plans visualize a great opportunity for enrollment and service in this region," Van Steenwyk explained.

"Dedicated to the belief that the American people want, and are entitled to the best of health care at low cost, these Plans have proven that such a goal can be won by the simple means of pre-paying small, periodical subscription charges against times of illness."

Established in Philadelphia in 1938, Blue Cross has enrolled 1,700,000 subscribers in the five-county metropolitan area; has paid more than 1,000,000 hospital bills totaling $75,000,000.

The much younger Blue Shield Plan has already enrolled 400,000 subscribers and is growing at an even faster rate than did Blue Cross in its early years.

"Business, labor, medical and hospital interests in every community have commended the Plans efforts, and have brought them to their present respected and indispensable position," Mr. Van Steenwyk pointed out.

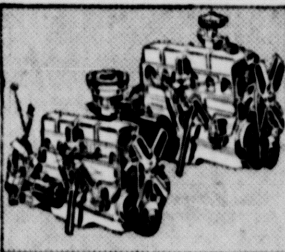

"Every new situation has found the Plans resourceful, ingenious and pliant to the needs of the times in the true American tradition. Together they aim at a healthier, free and more secure America."
